VOL. I. MANNING, CLARENDON COUNTY, S. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1885. NO. 50.

An American Prophecy on England's Future.

The American (Philadelphia) writes:—The annexation of Ireland by the most profligate exercise of base influences, and the conquest of India by the sword, may have seemed the means to consolidate and strengthen the country. They have proved the reverse. For India's sake the English have plunged into one unjust war in Egypt and another in the Sudan. For India's sake they have been trembling on the verge of a war with the great empire of the Slavs and Tartars. For India's sake they have been obliged to abdicate their just position in Europe, and to count as a cipher in the politics of the continent, where, 70 years ago, they held the first place. And into how many more perplexities their Indian possessions will carry them, it is impossible to foresee. In the case of Ireland the Nemesis for the past sins is still more visible. The Union introduced into the Imperial Parliament 105 members, who are and always have been an alien and a disturbing element there. These men could not do justice to their constituencies without making a disturbance in London. They cannot better their constituencies than by seeing to it that the disturbance is as extensive and as offensive as possible. The Irish people have no interest in the maintenance of the House of Commons; their one hope is to be forever rid of all connection with it. So long as they are forced to send their members to London, instead of meeting in Dublin, they are well content to have these members regarded as a nuisance. And in the last five years this has been done so effectively that the English are beginning to see that the Treaty of the Union was a gigantic mistake. Ireland is like the Scotch fairy, who cannot be brought into the House except by the exercise of sheer force, and who, when once in it, will shake it to its very foundations before she is done. A House of Commons with 103 Irish members, mostly followers of Mr. Parnell, is beginning to be seen to be an impossibility in practical politics. Hence the frank suggestion of some English Tories that Ireland be disfranchised. That would be one way of getting rid of the difficulty, but it is not one that England dares take. It would put an end to the Treaty of Union which expressly stipulates for the 105 members. The other way out of the difficulty is a frank Repeal of the Union. If that be done without any appeal to arms on the Irish side, the effect on the temper of the people will be most beneficial. It is to be done as a concession to threats when England is in some great peril, like that of a century ago, then England will have a permanent and dangerous enemy. If it be done as the outcome of an Irish uprising when England is in peril, the danger will be still more immediate. And before this generation has passed away, it will be done after some of these fashions.

Hon. James G. Blaine.

In his work "Twenty Years of Congress," page 496, says: "The tide of invasion had been rolled back after the bloodiest and most stubbornly-contested field of the war. The numbers on each side differed but little from the numbers engaged at Waterloo, and the tenacity with which the soldiers of the British Isles stood that day against the hosts of Napoleon, was rivalled on the field of Gettysburg by men of the same blood fighting in the ranks of both armies." Yes, too true it is, that an Irishman, commanding thousands of other Irishmen, fought on the field of Waterloo for the honor and glory of their oppressor. It is also true that in the ranks of the Confederate army at Gettysburg many an exile from the old land fought for the "Stars and Bars," but a careful examination of the rolls of the three British forces engaged in the three days' struggle shows that about twenty-three per cent., or in round numbers, 20,700 of the heroes of Gettysburg were of Irish birth, or traced their descent directly from Irish ancestors. The Irish-Americans who fought on the Confederate side had made their homes in the South. They did wrong in battling for a cause having for its object the dissolution of this glorious Union, this asylum of the oppressed of all nations, but who will question the honesty and purity of the motives of Gen. Patrick Cleburne, one of the most gifted men in the South, and others who thought as he did, and fought bravely for the "lost cause?"

He Did Not Wait.

A worthy sea-captain entertained a fancy to become a Freemason, and was accordingly proposed and elected. A friend accompanied him to the place of meeting, which was in a building, the lower part of which was used as a place of entertainment. The neophyte was left in an apartment next to the servant's room, while his friend went upstairs to assist in the opening ceremonies. A Celtic maiden, who caught a glimpse of the stranger, resolved to take part in his initiation, and procuring a gridiron, placed it over the fire. It was not long before the captain, looking inquisitively through the door, saw the utensil reddening in the heat. The recollection flashed through his mind of masonic candidates, and some peculiar orations which they were made to utter. "What is that, Bridget?" he eagerly inquired. "And sure," replied the Hibernian virgin, "it's only the gridiron that I was to place over the coals." "Who told you?" asked the eager captain. "And wasn't it the gentleman who came with you?" "What could he want with it?" demanded the captain. "And sure I can't tell," replied Bridget. "They are often using it—it belongs to the people up-stairs. I always heat it when they want to make 'em Mason."

This was too much for the excited captain, and taking to his heels he soon put a safe distance between himself and the lodge.

Miss Angelina Brown, of New York City, has sued her physicians, Dr. A. S. Parry and his son Dr. A. E. M. Parry, for $10,000 damages for having falsely reported that she had smallpox and causing her to be sent to the smallpox hospital on Blackwell's Island.

The census of Kansas, just completed by the State board of agriculture, shows a population of 1,268,432, a gain of 372,466 in the past five years. The greater portion of this increase is within the past two years, during which time the almost depopulated western counties have nearly regained former numbers.

—Mr. Thompson and Mrs. Woodfall went to the agency at Lawrence, Kan., to be married. The ceremony was performed at 9 o'clock a. m. and Thompson died at noon of dropsy of the heart and was buried at 10 o'clock next day. The minister who married the couple preached the funeral sermon, and in the evening married the woman to another man.

—The Atlanta Prohibitionists offered to pay the taxes of any colored man who desired to vote the temperance ticket at the election this week, and the liquor men, hearing of this, blue-ribboned two hundred anti-prohibition negroes, sent them early next morning to the temperance headquarters and had two hundred votes qualified, at a cost to the Prohibitionists of nearly $1,000.

—Somebody has discovered the discouraging fact that five Governors of New York have dropped dead of heart disease. Still the position will be sought after.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. July 14/87

—A Louisville lady has sued a Mississippi river steamboat company at Memphis for $25,000, for allowing her husband to jump overboard and get drowned while he was in a state of beastly intoxication.

—Of thirteen lynchings conducted by one band of vigilantes in Montana during the last three months, it is claimed that the right man was hanged in twelve instances.

—The body of Louis Riel was buried last Thursday by Father Andre in a vault underneath the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and a guard was placed over the remains. The ceremonial was simple and impressive.

—The storehouse of R. F. Brown at Spring City, Tenn., was burned on Tuesday by incendiaries. Loss $99,000; insurance $1,000. The postoffice, which was attached, was entirely consumed, together with a quantity of mail.

—A section of ore fell from the top of a cut in Colby Mine, at Bessemer, Wisconsin, on Tuesday, and four miners were instantly killed and one other man was seriously injured. The ore fell thirty-five feet before striking the men.

—King Alfonso is reported to be dying. He is weak and emaciated, his eyes are deeply sunken and dull, and though Dr. Sanchez Oceano, a famous specialist, has undertaken his case, it is not thought there is much hope of a cure.

—Col. Robert G. Ingersoll has sold his fine residence in Washington to Mr. A. B. McCreery, a brother-in-law of Mr. Justice Field. Col. Ingersoll will hereafter have his home in New York City.

—Secretary Manning is partial to apples, but to red apples only. The result is that the negro peddlers around the treasury building keep none but red apples in stock, and from the chairwomen to the assistant secretaries all the employees lunch on red apples.

SENSIBLE PEOPLE

ARE NOT EASILY DECEIVED. FOR they know quite well that good and bad clothing are alike made to sell; and who was ever known to advertise poor clothing? They know how nearly all clothes keep the finest and sell on paper—at less than it cost to make them. Honest prices, well made and nicely fitting clothes, together with a good name (justly deserved), are bound to sell.

The above being a fact, I state it merely to enforce the point that I have ready for inspection the largest and best assorted stock of Fall and Winter Clothing for men, youths and boys, that can be found in the State. They are peerless in variety and honestly good all the way through; even the underlinings are shrunken and the trimmings used are meant to wear, not merely to help sell the goods, as every garment is warranted as represented. There are unassailable ramparts behind which I invite you to deal. I am not here for a season; I am here to stay. My stock this season is the largest I have ever carried, and it embraces every style and fashionable garment that is made. I am willing to compare them with the merchant tailor work, and it is with real pleasure to state that the business of this EMPORIUM OF FASHION is steadily on the increase. My large and constantly increasing patronage testifies more forcibly than words that the value offered by me are not equalled by any other house in the State.

To prove the truth of this I ask buyers to make their own comparisons, as I enjoy then a reputation above that and beyond that of all others in this vicinity at least in Tailoring, Clothing and Gent's Furnishing Goods, Hats and Fine Shoes. This is the headquarters for the correct styles in men's and boys' attire. All orders sent to my care will be promptly attended to.
